

PRIYANKA CHOPRA JONAS is a multi-faceted talent, who is one of the most recognized personalities in the world.

Chopra was already a film and television star in her native India when she made her American TV acting debut, on ABC's hit drama "Quantico." Playing the central role of Alex Parrish, she made history as the first Indian actor to star as the lead of a TV drama series. "Quantico" ran for three seasons and was licensed in 212 territories (excluding the U.S. and Canada), across 54 languages. In January 2016, Chopra won a People's Choice Award for her role in "Quantico," in the category of Favorite Actress in a New Television Series, again making history as the first Indian actress to win a People's Choice Award. In April 2016 she was featured on the cover of TIME magazine's coveted TIME 100 issue, named as one of the "Most Influential People" in the world. The following year, she won her second People's Choice Award, for Favorite Actress in a TV Drama.

Chopra's foray into the entertainment industry began at the age of seventeen, when she won Miss India and went on to win Miss World the following year, a title that brought her international attention.

With more than 103 million social media followers, and growing by the day, Chopra is also committed to using her reach for good. She is a global UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador, and has been a National Goodwill Ambassador to India for 12 years. She is also a UN Foundation Girl Up Champion and is involved in a number of efforts to protect children's rights and promote the education of girls in India, including her namesake charity, The Priyanka Chopra Foundation for Health and Education.

Priyanka has been dedicated to fighting for inclusion and diversity over the course of her 20-year career and believes in supporting brands that align with her values.

Chopra is married to recording artist and actor Nick Jonas. The couple splits their time between New York, Los Angeles, and Mumbai.